Day 2: Siem Reap

Rise early for the short journey into the land of temples. Watch the sky explode with colour over the legendary Angkor Wat – one of the final vestiges of the Khmer Empire and a worthy UNESCO World Heritage Site. Then, join your guide to uncover the stories behind one of the largest religious monuments in the world and its intricate artwork. Next, climb through snake-like roots that engulf the temple of Ta Prohm to discover an intriguing history hidden amongst strangler figs and kapok trees. Marvel at towers etched with bodhisattva faces and bas-reliefs revealing ordinary Khmer life. Return to your hotel for a late breakfast and afternoon at leisure.

If you so choose, you can embark on an afternoon excursion to Siem Reap's outer villages and visit the exquisitely preserved Banteay Srei temple, nicknamed the 'Citadel of Women' due to its pink sandstone façade. Continue to a local family home to learn about the Cambodia Clean Water Project, an Abercrombie & Kent Philanthropy (AKP) initiative installing wells in rural areas to provide much-needed clean water. Meet one of the recipient families to see firsthand how this project is changing lives, one well at a time. If you would like to find out more, or to get involved, visit www.akphilanthropy.org.

Day 3: Siem Reap

Today's exploration takes you to the former capital of the great Khmer Empire, Angkor Thom, travelling by your choice of vehicle or bicycle. Embark on your guided discovery at the glorious Bayon in the heart of the ancient city. Take in the 37 stone faces of this elaborate temple built by and for King Jayavarman VII. Wander through the perfectly square, walled city and stop awhile at the sanctuary of Baphuon. See where kings once worshipped at Phimeanakas Temple. Imagine life in the Royal Palace and picture the performances that once regaled royal crowds on the impressive Terrace of the Elephants. The Terrace of the Leper King, with its fascinating sculptures, promises the perfect finale. Return to your hotel for an afternoon at leisure.

This evening, watch in awe as theatre, dance, music, storytelling and circus arts come together at Phare Ponleu Selpak, Cambodia's leading creative arts organisation. All proceeds from the high-energy performance are reinvested into the social enterprise, providing free arts education to economically and socially challenged Cambodian youth.

Day 4: Siem Reap

Discover Siem Reap's creative vibe with your local guide and arts curator, Robina Hanley. Visit the Golden Silk Farm to witness the time-honoured process of cultivating silk worms to create delicate fabrics. Continue to House and Gallery where Cambodia's rich artistic heritage comes to life through a collection of recovered artefacts and handmade pieces. Step inside the studio of internationally acclaimed fashion designer Eric Raisina, whose modern designs are heavily inspired by Cambodia's ancient culture and crafts. Recharge with coffee in the peaceful city-centre enclave of Kandal Village, where colonial buildings now house upscale interior design shops and art galleries. Then, head to One Eleven Gallery to peruse contemporary works by international artists. Return to your hotel to relax and explore the city, your way.

Accommodation

Zannier Hotels Phum Baitang

Phum Baitang means ‘green village’ in Khmer. Picture pretty wooden villas framed by lush lawns, swaying palms and lemongrass plantations, and you can see why the name is a perfect fit. Part of the Zannier Hotels collection, this village-style retreat lies on Siem Reap’s rural outskirts, just 10 kilometres from UNESCO-listed Angkor Wat.

Phum Baitang’s architecture captures the rustic charm of traditional Khmer abodes, without scrimping on modern comforts. Stepping into your Khmer home-from-home, expect high ceilings, aged wood floors, woven bamboo, tastefully chosen antiques, and warmly lit, understated décor. All 45 of the villas are raised on stilts and divided into two types, centred on their respective star attractions: private plunge pools and scenic terraces.

At the two on-site restaurants, the scent of lemongrass mingles with the tempting aromas of Cambodian and fusion cuisine. Locally sourced ingredients include rice plucked from the property’s own paddy fields. If you’re only wishing to wet your whistle, head to the century-old farmhouse-turned-cocktail-lounge. Here you can recline in rattan chairs as you sample fine wines, vintage liqueurs, and more.

Relaxation comes easy at Phum Baitang. There is a spa – styled on Angkor Wat’s temple architecture – offering pampering wellness treatments amid tropical gardens. Meanwhile, the 50-metre, infinity-edge swimming pool offers a sunset-facing dip with garden views. Where better to catch your breath after the frenetic pace of the city, than this oasis of Cambodian calm?

Why we like it

- Ideally located for those seeking rural tranquillity just 15 minutes from the Angkor ruins
- Peaceful countryside setting, but easy access to Siem Reap's facilities and Angkor Wat's temples
- Temple-inspired spa offering a menu of traditional Khmer treatments
