Days 8-10: Cape Town

Spend the next three days exploring Cape Town in all its guises from its grand colonial architecture and vibrant Cape Malay heritage, to its breathtaking land and seascapes visible from almost every vantage point, its cool urban edge and world class museums to its famous wine country. Choose how you experience this exciting city.

Take the cable car up Table Mountain for unparalleled views of the city and Atlantic Ocean or hike up if you're feeling energetic. Spend a full day exploring the winelands with a specialist guide with exclusive access to family-run wine farms and intimate tastings with the people behind the wine. Choose a cycling experience through the vineyards or on the beautiful and dramatic Cape Peninsula. Grab a board, pack a picnic and hit one of Cape Town's legendary surf breaks.

To see more of Cape Town's vibrant culture, visit Zeitz MOCAA and join a curator on a tour of its contemporary African art collection. Or venture out to Robben Island for a moving insight to Nelson Mandela's 18 years of incarceration.

Cape Town has a huge range of rich experiences to choose from, and these can be easily tailored to your families interests. Our guides will help you to immerse yourself in the best of the Cape including its food, wine, wildlife, people, history and culture.

Accommodation

Tswalu Kalahari

In the Northern Cape Province of South Africa, at the foot of the Korannaberg Mountains, lies Tswalu. Founded in 1995, it is one of the largest private conservation projects in Africa. The 100,000 hectare reserve (over half the size of the Masai Mara) is home to thousands of animals, including the rare desert black rhino, sable and roan antelope, Cape buffalo and cheetah.

The accommodation at Tswalu epitomises stylish yet rustic elegance. The main lodge The Motse consists of eight authentic stone-walled and thatch-roofed bungalows. For those looking for exclusivity and personal service, Tarkuni is ideal for a small party or family due to its privacy and the ability to book it exclusively. The Motse boasts a galleried library, outdoor and indoor dining areas, wine cellar and an outdoor heated swimming pool. Sundowners on lantern-lit dunes, boma dining and Lekgaba Lookout offer a variety of exciting eating experiences. Activities include game drives in open-sided, canopied safari vehicles, horse riding with a qualified equestrian and bush walks led by experienced field guides. There is an award winning spa offering a variety of wellness treatments and massages. Tswalu is a fascinating and magical place a pristine wilderness waiting to be discovered with so much to see and do here a minimum of three nights is highly recommended. Daily Flights from Cape Town or Johannesburg allow Tswalu to be added simply to any South Africa itinerary.

Why we like it

- South Africa's largest private game reserve owned by the Oppenheimer family
- A member of the prestigious Relais & Chateaux
- Activities available include bush walks, horse riding, game drives, talks with the reserve's ecologists, visit the staff village and an
- array of interactive children's activities
- The perfect choice of camps for travellers looking to immerse themselves in the wilderness and life in the bush
- A dedicated team of field guides and butlers allow guests to choose how to get the best of their day

Grootbos Private Nature Reserve

Grootbos delivers the basics with ease, international cuisine, fine wines and stunning lodge accommodation along with some more refined touches. There are telescopes in the main lounge area for armchair naturalists and boat trips for those who want to get a little closer. Within the reserve itself highly-qualified resident research botanists offer fascinating guided tours around the unique ecosystem, by vehicle or on the superbly trained thoroughbred horses from Grootbos' own stables. Community projects are important at Grootbos and guests are actively encouraged to learn and engage in local township life.

Grootbos has carved a unique niche in the upmarket eco-lodge sector by specialising in the Cape region's world-renowned flora and marine biodiversity. The multi-award winning 1,750 2500 hectare reserve is home to more than 740 different species of plants and is a nature lover's paradise. Revered conservationist, David Bellamy has described Grootbos as 'The best example of conservation of biodiversity I have ever seen - Grootbos says it with flowers'. This is a truly exceptional nature destination and is linked with the Eden project in Cornwall.

Why we like it

- Biodiverse eco-paradise in the Cape Floristic Kingdom
- Marine Big Five - whale watching, great white shark cage diving, penguins, seals and dolphins
- Pristine ecosystem and rare fynbos
- Conservation and horticulture training programme for local students

Royal Malewane, Thornybush Game Reserve

Set high amongst a canopy of indigenous acacia and lanternbush trees and linked via elevated walkways, each of the six Royal Malewane suites benefit from rich deck wood terraces, thatched gazebos and infinity pools. Window-side Victorian baths add to the glamour of these opulent suites. In addition, the stunning Royal Suite and Malewane Suite comfortably accommodates up to four guests and affords the complimentary services of a private chef, butler and game drives. For the ultimate exclusive stay, Africa House with its six bedrooms is a vibrant and beautifully appointed villa complete with your private safari guide and vehicle.

Royal Malewane provides an escape from the constraints of modern life to a synthesis of wildest Africa and age-old colonial splendour. As the lodge is set deep in the African bush, this is ideal for the traveller who wants to experience true Africa. Game viewing, by open vehicle or on foot, is tailored to each guest. Royal Malewane is privileged to have the only surviving Master Tracker currently working in Southern Africa. All the guides at Royal Malewane are also avid photographers, with numerous awards among them. This also proves invaluable at assisting guests with their photographic requirements. In addition they have an extensive knowledge of the beautiful Africa night skies. This guiding excellence combined with a staff to guest ratio of four to one ensures a supremely personal service.

Why we like it

- Hidden on a 30,000 acre private reserve adjacent to the Kruger National Park is Royal Malewane
- An exclusive lodge for travellers who value privacy, personalised service in a prime game viewing area of Kruger

- The Waters of Royal Malewane Bush Spa has internationally qualified therapists to provide therapeutic massage, luxurious body treatments and hydrotherapy
- Air conditioned suites all with private plunge pool
- Sumptuous dining is a signatory feature, the lodge is the first to boast a Chaîne des Rôtisseurs Blazon for cuisine
